

Unemployment Pay at Record, to Climb Higher

WASHINGTON (UP) — More jobless Americans are collecting unemployment benefits than ever before and the total is expected to climb further, the government disclosed today. A Democratic senator introduced legislation to increase the benefits.

The Labor Department said in testimony published today 2,778,000 persons were drawing unemployment insurance under state programs in the week ended Jan. 4. The figure was almost 400,000 higher than the previous peak in January, 1930.

The department told the House Appropriations Committee the total was expected to rise to 2,900,000 this month and then start a moderate downward movement in March.

To take care of this "emergency," the department asked Congress for an extra $70,400,000 to defray rising costs of its employment security program between now and July 1.

Other economic developments: President Eisenhower told his news conference a federal tax cut would be a big stimulant for business if that became "necessary," but indicated the administration still doesn't plan to ask for one now.

The Commerce Department reported higher prices pushed manufacturers' sales to a record 341 billion dollars last year. It said there was very little change in the amount of goods sold.

Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) urged Congress to set up a 500-million-dollar public works program as a backfire against a depression. He introduced a bill to authorize the program under a "public works administration," the name borne by one of the depression-sired agencies of the 1930's.

House members representing 45 depressed industrial areas called on Eisenhower to set up an "effective program" to alleviate unemployment.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) offered a bill to boost the size of unemployment benefit payments.

Bing and Wife Expecting Child

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Crooner Bing Crosby, 33, and his 23-year-old, petite brunette wife, actress Katy Grant, are expecting a child this August.

The pretty, Texas-born actress confirmed Wednesday night that she was pregnant.

"We both hope everyone will be as happy as we are," she said. The baldish millionaire singer and Miss Grant were wed in a surprise ceremony last Oct. 24 in Las Vegas, Nev., after going together for about two years.

Informing by United Press that he was to become an uncle again, Bob Crosby said:

"I'm delighted to hear about it and the whole family will be. I know it will mean a great deal to Bing's happiness."

Two Additional 'Incidents' at Central High

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Supt. Virgil T. Blossom confirmed two more racial incidents at Central High School today. One of which reportedly touched off a demonstration of white students.

Both reportedly involved Minnie Jean Brown, one of the nine Negro students who integrated the school last September. Blossom refused to identify any of the three students involved and to give out any details. He confirmed that the first involved a white girl and a Negro girl, and the second was another "soup throwing" incident.

Mrs. Frank B. Gregg, Jr., the mother of Frankie Gregg, told United Press that it was her daughter who was involved in the first incident. Reports were that the Brown girl called the Gregg girl "petty white trash."

The Gregg girl was reported to have thrown her purse at the Brown girl, and the Brown girl picked up the purse and threw it back.

A Federalized Arkansas National Guardsman was reported to have taken the two girls to the office of Mrs. Huckabee, principal for girls, and in turn took them to the office of Principal Jess Matthews.

Later in the morning Matthews was reportedly in conference with Mrs. Huckabee and the Brown girl.

FCC Official Rejected Pay, Probers Told

By NEIL MACNEIL
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Federal Communications Commissioner T. A. M. Craven rejected a check from a broadcast industry group because he believed it was not proper for him to accept the money, it was learned today.

The check was sent to Craven to pay him for his hotel expenses at an industry convention he attended to make a speech.

Craven's action contrasted with those of other FCC members, including FCC Chairman John C. Doerflinger, who have accepted industry fees for making speeches and permitted industry groups to pay their hotel and travel bills.

President Eisenhower told a news conference Wednesday federal law permits members of federal regulatory commissions to take reasonable honorariums for speeches or presentations to trade associations.

A Justice Department spokesman told the United Press it is a customer and permissible for government officials to accept travel expenses from private organizations when speaking before them. He said it is the practice of public officials to accept such payments.

Band Letters to Be Awarded at Concert

Mr. Cannon announced that letter awards for this year will be announced tonight. Tickets are available at the door.

73,369 Get More Welfare Money

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — The state Welfare Department paid $2,066,007, an increase of $407,499 over the year before, in January to 73,369 persons. Welfare Commissioner Carl Adams said Wednesday.

A total of 958 more persons were on the old age rolls as compared to January, 1937. The average age of the aged persons was 64. Adams said. The other averages were $30.50 for dependent children, $44.42 for the blind, $24.37 for the disabled, and $30 for those receiving a Confederate pension.

Huge U. S. Plan to Explore Into Space Is Shaping

By CHARLES CORBORY
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP) — A mammoth U. S. drive to explore space began to take shape today.

It was learned that half a dozen concrete projects are now under study in the Defense Department. They are forerunners of a vast new program that eventually may take man to the moon and planets.

Providing the impetus and early knowledge for future plans is America's Explorer satellite whizzing around earth in an egg-shaped orbit now calculated as ranging from 210 to 1,578 miles out in space.

Exact nature of the half-dozen projects was not disclosed. High defense officials said after Russia's Sputnik I was launched a survey was made of the armed services to see what they could do in satellite and space development.

A group of scientists and industry experts comprising the Pentagon's Special Capabilities Panel analyzed the various proposals and winnowed out "half a dozen solid projects" that are now under intensive study. No go-ahead has been given on any as yet.

Meantime plans are already set for a second Army Explorer, the Navy Vanguard satellite program and development of the Air Force "Pied Piper" television reconnaissance satellite.

High officials disclosed that the spacemen are now casting about for another satellite launching site capable of shooting moons into a north-south orbit. The Cape Canaveral, Fla., range is reported unsuitable for launchings other than in a general east-west direction. A more north-southerly orbit, presumably is needed to probe additional areas of space.

Congress took up the question of determining whether a civilian or military agency should run the effort on space. The Senate was set to approve a resolution introduced Wednesday, to create a special committee to come up with the answer.

Government scientists are approaching the exploration of space on the basis of what can be done immediately with existing rocket power and scientific know-how, and what should be the long haul objectives.

The range of military proposals is from a 300-pound satellite fairly soon to a huge 20-ton satellite, presumably manned — perhaps 10 years from now.

But all such long-range proposals are being held for establishment of the Defense Department's new Advanced Research Projects Agency.

Two automobile accidents were investigated by Police here yesterday. At Third and High Streets autos driven by Ruth Keedy and Mrs. Mae D. Shaphouse of Magnolia, collided. Officers reported fender damage to both vehicles.

Last night on South Laurel an auto driven by Louis Phillips Jr., a Negro, backed into and heavily damaged a light pole. City Officers charged Phillips with no city or state tags, no brakes, no drivers license.

NEW YORK (UP) — The lowest temperature reported in the nation this morning was 11 below zero at Devils Lake, N.D. Highest Wednesday was 81 at Laredo, Tex., the U. S. Weather Bureau said.

The decision to get the ball rolling on diplomatic talks was made during a conference of President Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Thompson Wednesday.

U. S. to Ask Russia About Conference

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States is ready to ask Russia squarely if it wants to start negotiations now on a diplomatic level toward a "summit" conference, it was learned today.

A high administration source said U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr. when he returns to Moscow Friday will put the question to Russian Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Thompson also will sound out Gromyko on "diplomatic-level" disarmament moves and other East-West problems, the source said.

At the same time there was speculation here that Russia might consent to a first step disarmament agreement in order to improve relations with the West for the next 10 or 12 years. This is the period Soviet leaders have indicated their country needs to catch up to the United States in overall industrial production.

The decision to get the ball rolling on diplomatic talks was made during a conference of President Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Thompson Wednesday.

State Health Department statistics show 40 babies born in Hempstead during the past month. There were 19 girls and 21 boys. There were 11 white boys and 11 white girls, eight Negro girls and 10 Negro boys.

NEW YORK (UP) — School and city officials, faced with fresh teen-age violence and parent-teacher criticism of a new school anti-crime program, appealed to the state today for more money to help curb student lawlessness. All of the incidents have involved Negroes.

Pupils beat or stabbed two student monitors in schools in Manhattan and the Bronx Wednesday, and at another school detectives arrested a 19-year-old youth who admitted, they said, that he had robbed two pupils in the school to get money for narcotics.

Dr. William Jansen, superintendent of schools, and Charles H. Silver, Board of Education president, will ask state officials and legislators in Albany today for more state aid for the schools. Mayor Robert F. Wagner also planned to confer there with Gov. Averell Harriman on ways to improve New York City's violence-beset schools.

Critics Hit Budget

A barrage of criticism from parent, teacher and citizens groups hit the Board's $20-million budget for 1958-59 when it was submitted formally to the city budget director Wednesday. The budget includes funds for adding six new schools in which youthful trouble makers and delinquents would be segregated from other pupils, as part of an anti-crime program adopted by the Board Tuesday.

Organizations called the program warmed-over, "superficial," "unworkable" and "inadequate."

The United Parents Assn. asked the Board to seek more money and charged that its "new" program actually contained nothing new. The Teachers Union said "there is no cheap way out of this school crisis" and the Citizens' Committee for the Children of New York, Inc. said the plan was "doomed to fail" unless it became part of a "realistic" state and local program.

Monitor Stabbed

In the latest outbreaks of violence that in recent weeks has included two rapes and several beatings and robberies, a 14-year-old Negro student stabbed monitor Philip Romano, 15, when the monitor stopped him from entering Henry Hudson Junior High School before the opening bell rang. Romano was hospitalized with two stab wounds near the abdomen.

Later, a Negro student at George Washington High School beat 10-year-old Frank Sloan so severely he was taken to a hospital with a brain concussion.

At the High School of Music and Art in Manhattan, detectives arrested Robert Asby, Negro, 19, who said he was recently released from seven months of hospital treatment for drug addiction. They said he confessed robbing two students of wristwatches and money Jan. 27 and last Tuesday.

The Senate action came on a resolution sponsored by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) and his Senate Preparedness subcommittee.

The resolution was introduced only Wednesday — 24 hours after President Eisenhower was disclosed to have directed his science advisers to study and recommend whether the space program should be controlled by the military or a civilian agency.

The recommendations will be submitted to Congress soon. Johnson said Wednesday that the new Senate subcommittee would receive such recommendations.

Johnson urged quiet approval as soon as the Senate met today. The vote came less than an hour later. He said early action was necessary because "there is an urgent need to lodge specific responsibility somewhere, and that decision should not be postponed."

The House sent the appropriation bill to the White House after Rep. George H. Mahon (D-Tex.), chairman of a Defense Appropriations subcommittee, that handled the measure, deplored "confusion" which he said exists in the government on who will handle programs for space conquest.

John H. Hale Steinman, publisher of the Lancaster (Pa.) Intelligencer and New Era, and chairman of the ANPA federal laws committee, said in the ANPA statement prepared for delivery today that in the 168 years since the "housekeeping" law was enacted its meaning has been distorted to permit department and agency heads to keep from the public any information they wish.

Craft Carrying Top Pro Soccer Team of England

MUNICH, Germany (UP) — A British airliner carrying England's top professional soccer team home from a victorious championship match in Yugoslavia crashed and exploded today in a Munich suburb.

First reports listed at least 28 persons dead. Airport officials said at least 12 survivors were pulled from the wreckage of the plane and the debris of a house it hit when it crashed.

The twin-engine Elizabethan-class airliner carried 38 passengers and a crew of six.

It was taking off from the Reim airport in a snowstorm when it suddenly faltered and plunged into a big building. A customs official at the airport said one engine appeared to catch fire while the plane was making its takeoff run in the heavy snowstorm.

The plane hit the building and exploded, hurling blazing gasoline onto surrounding houses and homes.

Police reported several buildings caught fire.

In addition to the members of the Manchester, England, United soccer team, the plane carried several British newspapermen and two diplomats from the Yugoslav embassy in London — assistant press attache Gavrilovic and consular official Nobjolsa Tomanovic.

The airliner had been chartered from the British European Airways to bring home the team, which defeated Belgrade's "Red Star" team in a two-game European Cup series.

It had refueled at the Reim airport.

Emergency Space Bill to White House

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House completed congressional action today on an emergency defense appropriation providing an extra $140,000,000 to speed up missile and space projects.

Minutes later, the Senate overwhelmingly approved a resolution to set up a special Senate committee to recommend whether the government's space program should be under civilian or military control.

The Senate action came on a resolution sponsored by Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) and his Senate Preparedness subcommittee.

The resolution was introduced only Wednesday — 24 hours after President Eisenhower was disclosed to have directed his science advisers to study and recommend whether the space program should be controlled by the military or a civilian agency.

Dollars Strewn Along Tracks by Train

BROOKLYN, Wis. (UP) — It happened in Green County and during the dead of winter.

A passenger train sped through this whistle stop Wednesday, leaving thousands of dollars strewn along the railroad tracks.

High school student Warren Flisram, 16, happened on the lovely sight as he was returning to school after lunch. As far as the eye could see the ground was green.

Who would believe him if he told authorities "There's thousands out there?" He gathered $500 in $20 bills and ran to Police Chief Donald Ferris with the proof.

Ferris, Flisram and several townspeople went back to the depot of the Chicago and North Western Railroad, took in the scene, then scampreed along the tracks gathering greenbacks.

When they finished, they had collected $13,485 in singles, fives, tens and twenties. Postal authorities determined that only $15 was missing.

It seems the train usually drops a mail pouch on the depot platform. Due to poor aiming, the pouch apparently bounced under the wheels of the speeding train and was ripped apart.

When the excitement toned down, Flisram remembered school and asked Ferris for an excuse explaining his absence, the note read:

"Please excuse Warren Flisram as he was on an official government job."

Committee May Decide Space Boss

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate may vote today to set up a special committee to decide whether the government's invasion of space should be directed by military men or civilians.

A resolution to establish such a panel was introduced Wednesday under the powerful sponsorship of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.). It cleared the Rules Committee and rocketed to the Senate floor within five hours.

It appeared likely Johnson would himself become chairman of the new committee. Under his resolution, the other members must be chosen from among the men who serve on a half-dozen of the upper chamber's most important permanent committees.

To Question Strauss
Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.) chairman of the space subcommittee of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, was considered a sure selection for the new group. His subcommittee planned to question Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission today on how the AEC would handle the space program if given that responsibility.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) introduced a bill to liberalize the size of unemployment benefit payments to meet the threat of recession. The measure—co-sponsored by nine other northern and western Democrats—would set up federal standards states would be required to meet by July 1, 1959.

Matter of FACT

The Polawatomi Indians of Wisconsin believe that up in the moon there lives an old woman who is weaving a basket and that when she finishes her work, the world will be destroyed. Every time an eclipse takes place, they think a dog has destroyed the basket and the old woman must start all over again. The Polawatomi's had a dog in the moon long before Leika rode in Sputnik II.

He will make a week-long simulated flight to the moon in a 4x8-foot "space cabin" at the School of Aviation Medicine, Randolph Air Force Base, Texas. Under the moon-flight conditions, Farrell will be strapped in a sitting position and will eat and sleep in this upright position.

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The state board of pardons and paroles at a hearing Wednesday recommended executive clemency for 11 of 61 convicts who had applied.

The recommendations will go to Gov. Orval Faubus for consideration. The board granted 40 paroles.

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—North Little Rock Mayor William F. Lammie has received a post card suggesting a new name for his city.

"There would be no doubt as to where it is located," the writer in Pine Bluff said. The suggestion? "Faubus."

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—North Little Rock police woke up Fred A. Eckenrode Jr. Wednesday to tell him his stolen car had been recovered.

But it was news to Eckenrode, who added it was the second vehicle stolen from him in a week—another car was taken last week and wrecked.

High Winds Cause Much Damage

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—High winds Wednesday night caused some property damage, but no injuries, the North Little Rock police said today.

One building, a steel structure about 100 by 70 feet, was moved off its foundation, Ed Allison, sales manager at a nearby moving company said. The building, owned by the Wynt-Monahan Monument Company, was shoved about eight inches, he said, and will be moved back by winching.

Hoods on three trucks of the moving company were blown off and canvas stripped from the back of one of them, he added. Hazellett Villa, sales manager at a car dealer in North Little Rock, said the wind blew in a 15 by 15 foot window in the service department and part of the framework hit a new truck, breaking the windshield and denting the truck. The gust blew out a main showroom window and three smaller windows in another showroom.

The weather bureau at Adams Field said it recorded gusts up to 40 miles an hour Wednesday night but did not have any report of damage.

Wants Action on Subsidy for Wool

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sens. James E. Murray (D-Mont.) and Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) called today for quick action on a farm bill to extend the wool subsidy act and reverse administration cuts in wheat and dairy price supports.

Murray said in a joint appeal prepared for a Senate Agriculture subcommittee hearing that the bill also should include extension of a farm surplus disposal act.

Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) of the full Agriculture Committee announced Wednesday the group hoped to handle the wool and surplus measures separately and include all other farm proposals in a "one-package" bill to be offered by March 1.

The Murray-Mansfield appeal, also delivered on behalf of Rep. Leroy Anderson (D-Mont.), came as the subcommittee opened hearings on extension of the wool act.

Under the 1954 statute, which expires March 31, 1959, growers sell their wool in the open market for whatever it will bring. The difference between market prices and a government-fixed "incentive" price of 62 cents a pound is covered by direct payments to producers. This system is similar to the plan proposed by Charles F. Brannan, agriculture secretary in the Truman administration. Assistant Agriculture Secretary Marvin L. McLain told the subcommittee the administration recommends the act's extension.

The home was beautifully decorated with pink and white japonica, and the dining room table was covered with a white lace cloth covered with an arrangement of pink and white japonica encircled with pink and white net covered with tiny valentines. Lighted pink tapers in white china candelabra complemented the setting.

Miss Coffee wore a dress of salmon pink wool and a corsage of pink camellias, a gift of the hostesses. Mrs. Carl Coffee, mother of the bride-elect and Mrs. Benson, mother of the groom-elect wore pink camellia corsages.

Mrs. Henry Burke greeted the guests at the door and Miss Sandra Burke was in charge of the gifts. A game with fortunes, written on tiny valentines was played with the honoree being directed to her lovely gifts displayed on the dining room table.

Punch and party cakes decorated with pink and green rose buds were served to approximately 50 guests.

DOROTHY DIX

To Solve Custody Problems Put Child's Welfare First

Dear Dorothy Dix: For several years my mother has cared for my son by a previous marriage. I was only 16 when Lee and I were married, and he proved so irresponsible that I divorced him after a year. I have worked ever since the boy was very small. Seven years ago, when he was five years old I remarried. On several occasions I have told my mother I was going to take the boy to live with me and she has become furious. I'm feeling more and more strongly about this, and Mom realizes it — she is growing very cold and distant toward me. I'm able to care for my son, although I'll have to keep on working for the next couple of years. My husband wants the boy. Should I let him stay with my mother for her sake, or insist on having him with me?

ANXIOUS
 Dear Anxious: This theme, or variations on it, provides newspaper headlines every day. Almost always, as you can see by reading the papers, it is judged that a child's place is with his mother. He is the one to be considered — not you, not your mother. Anyone — whether relative or stranger — who takes care of someone else's child, must face the fact that ultimately she might lose him. Unfair. Perhaps, depending on circumstances, but true nevertheless. If you could possibly give up working, I'd say definitely to take the boy. However, a child of 12 should not be left alone during the day, unless he is exceptionally self-reliant. You must decide whether you can adequately care for him and keep a job. Otherwise, let your mother have him for another year or two.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a very jealous person and come from an equally jealous family. I was married at 17 and don't think my husband loves me because he isn't jealous. He says he has so much faith in me he doesn't have to be jealous. BABE
 Dear Babe: Some people don't know when they're well off. The most precious thing we have in life is the faith of others. Lucky hubby to have a wife he can believe in, and lucky you to have a husband with such deep faith.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a 16-year old high school junior, engaged to a boy in the Navy who is 19. We want to be married this summer and I'll stay at home to finish school next year. My mother won't consent because she says we're too young. We plan to elope if she doesn't give her consent.

LOUELLA
 Dear Louella: Mother knows best. You are too young. Finish school and let the boy finish his hitch in the Navy then he'll be ready for the sea of matrimony.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a girl of 25, have been in this country three years and am very reserved. I've been going to dances with some of the girls who work with me, but am very disappointed in the boys I meet. How can I meet nice boys?

THEA
 Dear Thea: It's difficult for a "very reserved" girl to meet boys at all. Try to unbend and relax a little and you'll find men easier to meet. You write very well, but would probably like to speak English better. Enroll at the university in your city for an extension course. Get the girls at the office to substitute bowling or some other sports activity for some of those dances. Men are everywhere but you'll never meet 'em by remaining aloof.

to meet the threat of recession. Nine other Democratic senators joined in co-sponsoring the measure which would set up federal standards states would be required to meet by July 1, 1939. Until then the federal government would pay the difference between payments made under existing state laws and the more liberal payments Kennedy proposes.

Cosponsors for the bill were Democratic Sens. Joseph S. Clark (Pa.), Paul H. Douglas (Ill.), Theodore Francis Green (R.I.), Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.), Pat McNamara (Mich.), Mike Mansfield (Mont.), James E. Murray (Mont.), Richard L. Neuberger (Ore.) and William Proxmire (Wis.).

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Back Mel Dillard and tackle Ron Sabal of Purdue have signed their first professional contract with the Philadelphia Eagles. Dillard was the Eagles' 11th draft choice while Sabal was picked 10th.

Divorce Act Is Declared Illegal

MARION (UP)—Chancellor Lee Ward of Paragould ruled Wednesday an act of the 1937 legislature setting a three-months residence requirement for an Arkansas divorce is unconstitutional.

Ward made the ruling in a divorce suit by a 37-year-old aircraft corporation employee who works in Millington, Tenn., and lived in a West Memphis tourist court. The chancellor ruled Myron W. Wheat was not a genuine Arkansas resident. Ward dismissed the suit against Wheat's wife, Mrs. Alice S. Wheat, now a California resident.

"An intention to establish a permanent home is an indispensable element of 'domicile,'" said Ward's ruling. He said it was impossible to grant a divorce in Arkansas without one party being an Arkansas resident.

The act passed the 61st General Assembly over protests in some quarters that it would make a "divorce mill" of the state. Sponsors of the bill hoped to allow divorces to be granted on proof of three-months' residence in the state. Under terms of the bill, a person could file a divorce suit after having lived in Arkansas two months.

The chancellor's ruling applies only his 12th chancery district but if the decision is appealed and upheld in the Arkansas Supreme Court, it will apply statewide.

Matter of FACT

The League of Nations, the world's first effort to keep the peace through a general association of nations, was an outgrowth of World War I. It first met in 1920 at Geneva, Switzerland, when men from 41 nations sat down to talk over disputes among nations and to try to find agreements that would prevent wars. The league continued to meet at Geneva until 1939, when World War II started. In 1946 the league was replaced by a new association of nations, the United Nations, formed for the same purposes.

Gunman Kidnaper Gives Up Weekly

PADUCAH, Ky. (UP)—Gunman Carl Burton, 24, wanted for kidnapping a Missouri state trooper, surrendered weekly to authorities here Tuesday night and said he was glad "it's all over."

Burton, walked into police headquarters Tuesday night and told authorities, "Here I am. I give up." Later, he added, "I'm glad it's all over."

The gunman was arraigned immediately after his surrender before U.S. Commissioner Herbert Mellon Jr. and was charged with violating federal kidnapping laws and transporting a stolen car across state lines. He was bound over to the Federal Grand Jury on a $35,000 bond. Mellon said that he would seek life imprisonment for Burton.

held several months ago to explain the route to the public.

Arkansas State
Is Ranked 20th
NEW YORK (UP) — Arkansas State College was tied with three other schools for 20th spot this week in the United Press poll college basketball season.

"It was the sixth consecutive week the Indians have rated among the nation's top 20. They held fifth place last week but fell behind Utah State at Jackson, Tenn., Saturday night, 78-73."

Coach V. J. Vines said the team was "a little better than last year's team" and that the team was "a little better than last year's team."

Dr. Laurence B. Morgenthau of the University of California said the team was "a little better than last year's team" and that the team was "a little better than last year's team."

He paused and then, with a sigh, added softly: "But outdoors. Big Bill would still beat them all."

"That's about all it takes for each point," he said. "And I don't think the old timers like Tilden and Vines, at the best of the games they played, could have copied indoors with these modern players."

Says Gonzales Will Soundly Tounce Hood

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE
(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)
By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP) — Mercer Beasley committed court heresy today by placing "Big Bill" Tilden no better than sixth on his all-time indoor tennis "Top 10."

"Pancho Gonzales is the greatest indoor player of all time and will prove it in beating Lew Hoad by at least 15 matches in their current 100-match tour," Beasley asserted.

This is against all the odds—sentimental and practical. Because Beasley, the 76-year-old tennis coach who taught such as Billie Jean King, Wilhelmina, Frank Parker, Pancho Gonzales, Gardner Mulloy and Dennis Hart, always has rated Tilden as the all-time greatest. And Hoad is a 7-5 favorite to defeat Gonzales as the pro champion in their round-the-world series.

It's Different Outdoors
"Outdoors, I would still name Tilden the greatest of all," explains the Spalding expert. "And I would put Don Budge and Vines second and third ahead of him in order."

There are even some surprises in that rating. When you consider that Sedgman is ranked ahead of Kramer and Gonzales and Rosewall is placed so high. But Beasley is adamant.

He also holds firm in ranking Gonzales as the best of them all indoors and indicating how much the best — puts the "bound to be beaten" Hoad in second place.

"After that I would name Tilden third, followed by Kramer, Sedgman, Tilden, Vines, Denmark's Kurt Nielsen, Bobby Riggs and Dick Savitt," he said.

The basis for Beasley's startling indoor rankings, eye-opening at least to tennis buffs, is his analysis that indoor tennis has become a blindingly fast game of only three shots.

"There is no time any more for strategy in the indoor game," he asserted. "You don't think you move like automatic lightning or you're lost. There are only three shots: Serve, return of service, if you're lucky — and sharp volley."

Beasley types the current indoor technique as a "four second game."

"That's about all it takes for each point," he said. "And I don't think the old timers like Tilden and Vines, at the best of the games they played, could have copied indoors with these modern players."

He paused and then, with a sigh, added softly: "But outdoors. Big Bill would still beat them all."

Dr. Laurence B. Morgenthau of the University of California said the team was "a little better than last year's team" and that the team was "a little better than last year's team."

Heartbreaker Jailed for 13th Time

By JOSEPH FLEMING
United Press Staff Correspondent

BERLIN (UP)—Police arrested "The Heartbreaker" the other day for the 13th time.

He has the prosaic name of Paul Mueller, 38, has thinning grey hair, prominent features and wears glasses.

He has a timid, retiring manner, looks like a rural laborer and has no resemblance to any one most people would consider a lady-killer.

But, police who were on his trail for 18 months dubbed him "the heartbreaker" with good reason.

They called him one of the most dangerous examples of the "marriage swindler," who preys on West Berlin's 400,000 lonely women.

Police found him at his work in the home of a prosperous widow who owns a West Berlin inn.

Glves Money To Swindler
The widow already had given Mueller 2,000 marks ($500) to finance their planned "marriage," police said.

Because of the shortage of marriageable men, "marriage swindling" has become a well-paid profession here.

Looks, fine clothes, grooming, money, a good job are all that's needed.

In this city of lonely women all you need for the job is lack of character, some ruthlessness and the ability to promise marriage to girls who want a husband.

Women Want Husbands
There are very many women who do want a husband. Most of them have no chance of getting one.

Of West Berlin's population of 2,200,000, men number 900,000 and women 1,300,000. This gives a surplus of 400,000 women.

But that figure tells only part of the story. Unmarried women above 21 number 49,000. Of these, 245,000 are widows, 75,000 divor-

Scattered Showers for Arkansas

By UNITED PRESS

Scattered showers and dropping temperatures are forecast for Arkansas during the next 24 hours, after a day of springlike temperatures Tuesday.

The forecast says it will be mostly cloudy with scattered showers through Thursday, and cooler in the north portion tonight and over the entire state Thursday. Friday will continue cloudy and cooler.

Highs this afternoon will be in the 60's, lows tonight in the 30's north to around 60 extreme south, and highs Thursday around 40 north to 60 southern.

The extended forecast—Wednes-day through next Monday—said temperatures will average near the normal maximum of 64 and the normal minimum of 35. It will continue mild until colder Friday and Saturday. Precipitation for the period will be moderate to locally heavy in scattered rain ending Friday and Saturday.

tees and 70,000 single girls who were never married.

Most marriage swindlers use the same method as Mueller.

Meet Victims
Police say he met his victims by putting advertisements in lonely hearts columns. Many German newspapers and magazines run columns of "husband wanted" and "wife wanted" advertisements.

Numerous marriage bureaus also enter the needs of lonely people and provide a fertile field for adventurers.

The marriage swindler meets a lonely woman through an advertisement or an agency, quickly proposes marriage and sets a date for the wedding.

Shortly before the wedding, however, he borrows money to meet a financial obligation or to make a down payment on a home or to meet some wedding expense.

With the money in his pocket he is off to answer another advertisement and repeat the process.

Ten instructors from Hbailand are now studying at the University of Texas.

Monster Takes the Scenes Every Time

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — There's nothing like a monster to play hob with a glamor girl's movie scenes, says pert Mala Powers who co-stars with a particularly nasty fiend in a new movie.

No matter how sexy or lightly clad the heroine, audiences invariably ignore her when a monster prowls the screen. Thus, it is a rare cutie who will agree to appear in horror pictures.

Everyone remembers King Kong and Frankenstein, but not one person in 10,000 can recall the actresses they terrorized in their pictures.

"Working with babies and animals is bad enough," Mala lamented. "When it comes to scene-stealing the monsters are in a class by themselves."

Youngster Appears Too
Mala confessed she also has a youngster to contend with in her latest epic, "The Colossus of New York." He is Charles Herbert, 9. At that age it would take all the monsters in Movieland to turn his head away from the lens.

"This is my first monster picture, and I would just as soon it were my last," Mala went on. "Actresses never have very good roles in science-fiction movies. All we do is stand around and look frightened."

"I'm luckier than most, in this picture," Mala said. "I get to play a girl who is married to a monster."

Overlaid by a sudden twinge of loyalty to Paramount Studios, Mala said, "I must say 'Colossus' is different from most horror stories because the audience will feel sorry for the monster."

A Mechanical Man
The Colossus is a ten-foot high mechanical man with a human brain, a sorry combination at best. Unlike Frankenstein and other lovable beasts, the new monstrosity is not frightening in appearance. But his disposition makes up for his placid appearance.

"I guess a good monster picture never hurt anyone, but I don't want to specialize in them. I can't remember any actress winning an Oscar for appearing with Boris Karloff," Mala said. Like scores of other young Hollywood actresses Mala can't find top-notch roles in movies. Pictures increasingly lean toward strong masculine stories to please teenage audiences, leaving the fair sex high and dry.

"The market for love stories had disappeared," Mala concluded. "Action pictures, westerns and science-fiction are the rage now. The last time I played a romantic lead was in 'Cyrano De Bergerac' and that was eight years ago."

This Marine Was 'Always Faithful'

GALESBURG, Ill. (UPI)—Marine Corps Sgt. Ronald G. Phillips, 28, showed too much esprit de corps in living up to the Marine's motto, "Always Faithful."

Police charged Phillips with smashing his car into a parked auto while drunk. It was the same auto parked in the same place, which Phillips crashed into

Fire Guts Gin at Black Oak

BLACK OAK (UPI) — Fire destroyed the office of the Morgan Gin Company here Wednesday night, causing damage estimated by manager Rolland Goodman at $5,000.

The flames were seen at Lake City about seven miles east of Black Oak. Firemen from Monette and Cartway were forced to limit their fire fighting because of a lack of water and concentrated on spraying down two oil storage tanks about 50 yards from the gin office.

Goodman said he did not know the cause of the fire, unless it could have been in the wiring.

French Blast Causes Wave of Indignation

PARIS (UPI)—A bomb exploded in the National Assembly building Wednesday night, starting a small fire and setting off a shock wave of political indignation across France.

The fire was quenched quickly and damage was minor. Socialist committeemen meeting in a room directly above the bomb were shaken by the explosion, but no one was injured.

The bomb went off in an employees' washroom opening onto the courtyard behind the Assembly building. It smashed tiles and plumbing, cracked walls and littered the courtyard with window glass and splinters from the washroom door.

Police Chief Andre Lahillonne said today that evidence found on the scene indicated that the bomb consisted of a plastic charge set off by a "pencil" detonator of the type used by saboteurs in World War II.

The lack of clues heightened political fury and speculation over the incident.

Rumors said variously the bomber was:

— A right-wing extremist celebrating the anniversary of a 1933 attempt by rightist rioters to storm the Chamber of Deputies, predecessor of the Assembly.

— A Communist hoping to spread disorder and suspicion.

Ike Plans New Strategy on Summit Talks

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower planned today to work on a new strategy today to break through Soviet opposition to an early East-West agreement to use outer space for peaceful purposes.

The President called in Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr., U.S. Ambassador to Moscow, for a look at the outer space deadlock and prospects for a chiefs-of-state "summit" conference with the Russians.

Thompson is returning to Moscow early next week to open talks with the Russians on the summit issue.

The administration is pondering a reply to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's latest letter to the President.

The President wrote Bulganin Jan. 12, suggesting outer space cooperation. He also offered to attend a summit parley if initial work through ambassadorial and foreign ministers' talks indicated a top-level meeting would advance peace.

Bulganin on Sunday said the outer space plan would be considered only as part of a broader disarmament accord. The White House said this was a "negative attitude" toward the President's proposals.

Preliminary administration strategy calls for the United States to keep prodding the Soviets to listen to the President's outer space proposals. There is some feeling the subject might be taken up in the United Nations at an early date to avoid long delays surrounding overall disarmament moves. But no U.S. decision has been made.

Mr. Holt, Yes, sir. I saw Holt and a half-breed helper getting a string ready for the first trip. Man, you'd think Ray Atwood and Charley Carter could get somebody more reliable than Provo Holt.

Sam Lester spat into the fire. "I was hopin' Provo Holt had either fell off a high hill or into a deep hole by this time."

"No such luck," grumbled Wiggin. "His kind just keeps clutterin' up a good world and causin' trouble."

Ward stirred restlessly. The bearded packer sucked at his pipe in silence for a little time before going on.

"Saw Nick Dutra's widow up at Klamath. She sure looked fine and pretty. I talked some with her. She's set to marry up with a young officer who was wounded in that first big lava-beds fight, and she was just singin' happy about it, so I was glad for her too. I alius did like Kitty Dutra."

Later in the evening, with Bill Wiggin snoring in his blankets, Ward Sebastian crouched by the fire, silent over a pipe long gone cold. Beside him, Sam Lester finally spoke abruptly.

"You got a flick of sense, you'll head for Fort Klamath first thing in the mornin'."

Sebastian turned his head, met Sam's shrewd, puckered glance. "Wise old fox, eh?"

Sam shrugged. "Constance Ashland ain't been out of your mind since the night she caught up with us at Mike Galloway's place. Not that I blame you any, understand, for there's one girl who's the pure quill."

"And she's been Army all her life," Sebastian said gravely. "Shes not the sort to change easy."

"How do you know about that unless you go find out?" Sam demanded. "Boy, come mornin', you get out of here. With no loads in wrastle, I can take the string back to the ranch by myself."

Sebastian stood up, prowled about the fading fire coals a couple of times. Finally he nodded and spoke softly.

"All right, Sam. Tomorrow I ride."

With no pack string in front of him, Sebastian traveled fast, his horse strong in morning's chill.

Toward midmorning he rode through a ragged fringe of timber and faced a stretch of water, spiked with scattered clumps of grass.

But it wasn't sight of a flight of swallows that caused Sebastian to set his horse up sharply and swing back into the timber. It was sound: the quick, ragged rattle of gunfire, somewhere out past the spread of surface water.

Sebastian listened, at the same time shoving his rifle from the scabbard under his knee and laying the weapon across the saddle in front of him. As nearly as he could tell, perhaps a dozen shots had made up that burst of firing. Certainly more than one gun. But why the shooting and at what? A moment later the answer came. From a fringe of mesquite brush broke a pack animal under full load, it splashed out into the water, slowed to a stop and stood spread-legged and with sagging head. Abruptly its knee caved and it went heavily down, at kick once or twice, then so stricken and still.

Came further sound from beyond the mahoguanies where about of timber lifted. Out there a man set up a wild, high crying, a sound carrying pain and terror. It struck a peak of hoarse agony, then broke sharply off into a muffled silence.

Watching, listening, Ward Sebastian waited, waited through long minutes.

(To Be Continued)

SAD SAM—Little Samuel (Corkey) Letson doesn't look too interested in his supper, even though it is being served to him by a pretty nurse, Carolyn Moore, but maybe he's got a reason. For a two-year-old, Corkey has had some troublesome times. By the time he was seven months old, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Letson, of Birmingham, Ala., had nursed him through three major operations. Then for a year he got by without serious mishap. But last October, his troubles returned. In an automobile accident, Corkey suffered a broken leg. It was back to the hospital for five weeks. Out of the hospital again, things looked rosy for a couple of weeks. Then Corkey slipped and fell. What happened? You guessed it. The same leg was broken. Now he's back in University Hospital and thinking of the better days that are bound to come.

CHAPTER XXXIV

On April 18, after 72 hours of savage fighting, during which the lava stronghold of the Modocs was heavily pounded with mortar shells by artillery units that had arrived on the scene, forces attacking from two sides at once finally achieved junction along the lake shore, thus cutting the Modocs off from their water supply. That night, Captain Jack and his people slipped away like ghosts, leaving the shell-battered strong hold for the weary troopers to occupy next day.

On the trail, Sebastian heard nothing of this, nor, while in Crescent City with April's end just four days distant, of the Thomas and Wright massacre, when troops under the two-named officers were ambushed deep in the lavas and almost annihilated.

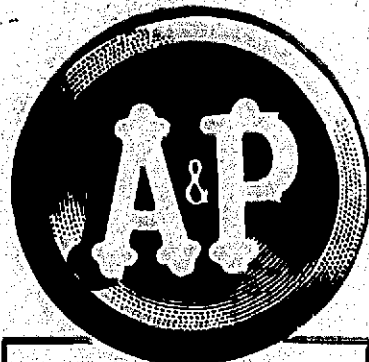

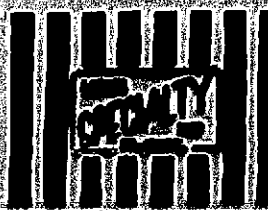

But he was back in Yreka, early in May, when word of the battle of Dry Lake came, in, telling of the disastrous defeat the Modocs had

Yardley May Score 2,000 in a Season

By UNITED PRESS

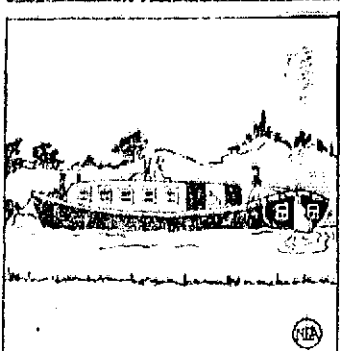

With a little luck, George Yardley of the Detroit Pistons, the National Basketball Association's top scorer, can become the first player to score 2,000 points in a single season.

The balding, former Stanford University star pumped in 52 points Tuesday night to run his season total to 1,463 in 54 games. If he better his game average of 27.2 by a little more than two points in the remaining 13 games, Yardley can reach the 2,000 point circle. And even if he misses that figure, he is almost certain to top the previous season's record of 1,449 set by Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks in 1955-56.

Sinking 18 field goals and 16 of 16 free throws Yardley bettered the previous season high of 23 points for a single game held by himself and Pettit.

Despite Yardley's peak performance, the Pistons had all they needed to break the Syracuse Nationals' record for the longest winning streak, 11 games.

petitor for season scoring honors, managed only 21 points.

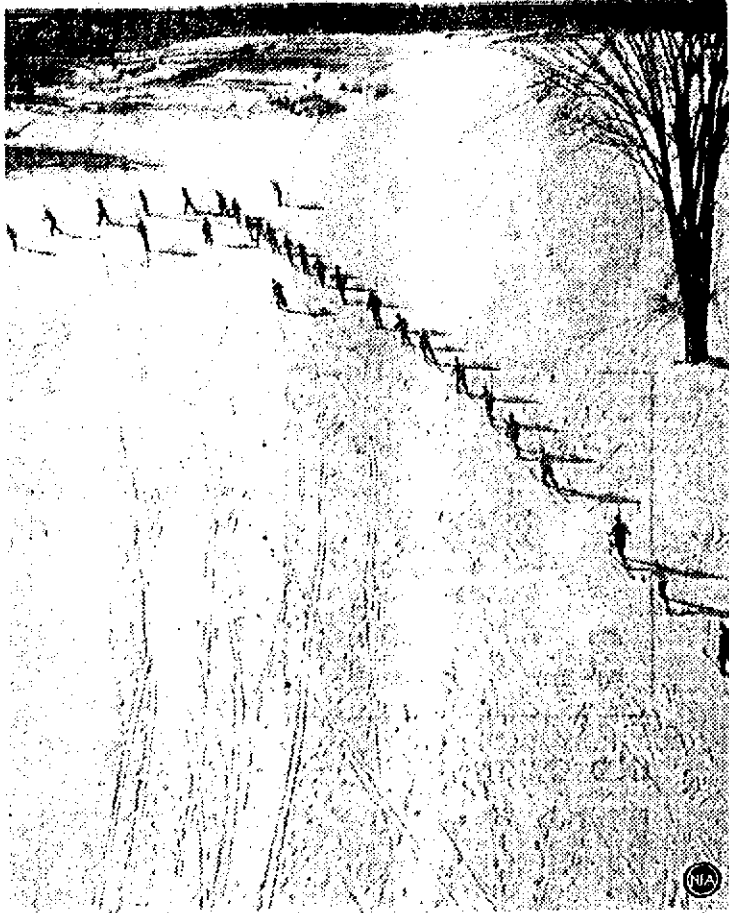

In other games, the New York Knicks snapped a four-game losing streak in defeating the St. Louis Hawks 120-116, in the nightcap of a Madison Square Garden doubleheader before 13,123 fans after the Boston Celtics routed the Cincinnati Royals, 167-97. The Philadelphia Warriors survived a Minneapolis rally to gain a 107-103 win over the Lakers in the preview to the Pistons-Nationals game at the Detroit Olympia.

Hagan Sets Record

St. Louis' loss was its ninth in the last 13 games, but Cliff Hagan eased the situation somewhat by canning 41 points, 26 of them in the final period, to set a new NBA single period record. Willie Naulls paced the Knicks with 35 points.

Bob Cousy led the Celtics with 17 points, while Clyde Lovellette scored 26 for the Royals. Paul Arizin, with 32 points, was high scorer in the Philadelphia-Minneapolis game.

Louades Gets Ready for Visitors

LOURDES, France (UP)—Loures was a little garrison town scattered at the foot of a great castle in a "lost corner of the Pyrenees" 100 years ago. It must have seemed such an unlikely setting for the story of Bernadette.

But there it happened a century ago next week, in the rock grotto of the hill called Massabielle, at the end of Monsieur de la Fille's big field where the poor sometimes trudged in search of firewood on the banks of the River Garonne.

This year Catholics the world over celebrate the centenary of what is known in ecclesiastical history as "The Apparitions of Lourdes."

More than six million of them will come as pilgrims to the grotto where the little peasant girl said she saw and spoke to the Virgin Mary.

Became A Saint

Loures is preparing to receive them. It is still a small town of about 15,000 in its valley among the towering hills, although several times more populous than it was in the time of Bernadette. Soubirous who became Sister Marie-Bernard who is now St. Bernadette.

For many months Canon Marthy, who is the church's secretary-general of pilgrimages, has been preparing for this centenary year.

TELEPHONE TALK

By Vance Smiley, Wire Chief, Hope, Ark.

Safety First

Along with the many important things that you have planned for this year I hope you will find time to practice "Safety First" in its fullest sense.

We, in the telephone business are very proud of our safety record and spend considerable time and money on first aid training and safety programs. If one injury can be prevented then our efforts are worthwhile.

It is a proven fact that accidents just don't happen very often, but are usually caused by our unsafe acts.

This year I hope you enjoy your work and also your leisure time but be careful — Hope needs you.

Out of the Past

I was thumbing through some old magazines the other day and found some household hints that had been published during the war years. One column suggested using an egg-timer to limit your Long Distance calls to three minutes.

I started wondering if anyone is still using an egg-timer out of a force of habit. I hope not because you certainly don't need to.

Today, there are plenty of Long Distance lines. You can talk as long as you like and as often as you like. In fact, it's wiser to take your time on Long Distance calls and say everything you want to say. One six-minute call always costs less than two three-minute calls. The longer you talk, the less is costs on a per-minute basis. And, you save an additional one-third when you call station-to-station.

Doing Something About the Weather

I imagine you've heard Mark Twain's famous remark about everybody talking about the weather but nobody doing anything about it.

The late Mr. Clemens would be surprised today, to learn that quite a lot of people are doing something about the weather.

The new Bell System Science film "Unchained Goddess" explains what makes weather and shows what scientists are doing to predict and control it.

You can see this outstanding film on NBC television Wednesday, February 12, at 8:00 p. m., Channel 3, Shreveport.

Hope you'll tune in and enjoy the show.

Call by number. It's twice as easy.

Berle to Play Straight Role in TV Show

By FRED DANZIG
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Milton Berle, subdued and reflective at 49, rarely holds court anymore with his jester pals at Lindy's.

Instead of yucking it up into the wee-hours at the comical Broadway bullpen, "Uncle Miltie" now takes his nourishment at the Oak Room at the Plaza, a calm, richly decorated, tradition-soaked room frequented by substantial people of the arts. And at night, when he's not busy writing a novel, he goes to sleep, early.

Dressed in a dark gray-blue sharkskin suit, with a Navy blue tie between a button-down collar, holding a telephone pole-size cigar, his hair now gray at the temples, Berle spoke of his next TV appearance—a "straight" dramatic role in "Material Witness," on NBC-TV's Kraft Theatre Wednesday night, Feb. 19.

Starts As Actor

"People think this is something new for me. But they forget I started as an actor, in vaudeville," Berle said. "In those days, you started as an actor and became a comedian. Today, it's different. You start now as a comic and then, if you get the chance, you learn to act."

"Comedy," Miltie went on, "is a lot like drama. Your skits have a beginning, a middle and an end. It's all based on truths, with touches of humor for the laughs, of course. Even a comedian's one-line gags must be outlined properly to have a dramatic buildup, a dramatic structure."

"You know," he added, breaking that broad Bugs Bunny-style grin, "some of my comedy shows were very dramatic things. That's a funny line!"

Back to being serious.

Comedian Is An Actor

"A comic is a comic. A comedian is an actor," Berle said, leaning back in a solid oak-and-leather chair. "Put a comic into a straight dramatic setting and, generally, it doesn't work."

He's doing the Kraft show because he wants the public to see "the other side" of him, Berle said. "They think of me as a comedian and forget that before TV, I did 10 Broadway shows, 18 or 20 pictures. And a lot of the parts were straight. As a kid, I did dramatic roles with Douglas Fairbanks and Corinne Griffith."

His TV future, Berle said, will probably consist of a couple of guest shots a year for the next year or two. "I'm not terribly interested in a regular show. Not that I'm disinterested. It depends on many things. I did 300 shows in eight years and it was a big race. I'm more interested in occasional guest appearances—and that still includes room for comedy."

Egypt, Syria Want Merger Approval

CAIRO (UP)—Presidents Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt and Shukri El Kuwally of Syria address their respective parliaments in Cairo and Damascus today to ask formal approval of their plan for a united Arab republic.

The legislatures are expected to approve a provisional constitution for the new republic effective after the two countries vote Feb. 21 on Nasser as president of the federated state. He is expected to get more than 95 per cent of the vote.

The provisional constitution will be in force from that time until the two countries are fully integrated.

Yemen Crown Prince Mohammed Salih Al Islum Al Badvi arrived in Cairo today to discuss merger of the Yemen with the new Egyptian-Syrian state. Such a merger was expected to leave Yemen a desert kingdom with local autonomy in the hands of Imam Ahmed, its current ruler.

STAND-IN FOR MEG—Georgina Moore, 20-year-old London showgirl, poses with copies of the latest portrait of Princess Margaret. British critics blasted the portrait as a "stilted composition" and "harsh and humorless." However, Georgina, who posed for the body of the portrait, liked it. She posed wearing Margaret's dress. The portrait was painted by Italian artist Piero Annigoni on a commission from Queen Mother Elizabeth.

In the News All Around the World

By DOC QUIGG

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Nibbles of news from all over:

The leading Moscow literary newspaper appraises American novelist Howard Fast, who broke with the Communist Party, as "immodest, disconcerting, cheeky, wall-eyed, cowardly, dishonest, indecent, a swindler, an opportunist, a savage, a deserter, and adds it is treating his departure 'calmly.'"

That's fine, boys. Nothing like keeping calm. Some people would have blown their tops.

A French newspaper, Paris Presse, has let itself in for massive retaliation by criticizing an Italian monument. Gina Lollobrigida just said, "Is to much, and it's badly displayed." A newspaper in Rome is rumored to be countering with a demand that the Eiffel Tower be painted as too conspicuous.

A headline on the front page of the New York Times says: "Can Time Run Backwards, Too? U.S. Tests Sub-Atom Theory For Possible Use In Outer Space." The possibility of a backward run in time should hold some interest in an inner space, also—the inside of prisons.

Generally neglected in the surge of excitement attending the launchings of the American satellite was the dispatch from Copenhagen, Denmark, about the rather thought-provoking story making the rounds of the Copenhagen cafes. It seems that the American and the Russian satellite met in space and got along fine together—they both spoke German (Wiegand's Blue still making a racket, huh?)

The Magicians Guild of America, meeting in New York, unanimously elected as dean of the guild Harry Blackstone, one of the last of the old-time magicians. Wilbur, our office grouch, says it was a pity he wasn't in our mission program why not give Harry a

Bank Money Split Plan Is Announced

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee decided Tuesday that farmers would receive federal soil bank payments on a first-come, first-served basis. Jay Neal Jr., of Van Buren, committee chairman, said letters would go today to county offices instructing them to cut requests and begin making acreage reserve payments. The committee agreed cotton counties would receive 94.9 per cent of the amount already signed for, rice counties 89 per cent, and corn counties 87 per cent. Neal said 36 states have adopted the first-come basis for distributing the federal aid. The cut in the amounts going to the counties from what was requested was necessary because more farmers signed up than there is money available.

AMS Group, Officials to Discuss Insurance

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—A meeting of state officials and the Arkansas Medical Society insurance committee will be held soon, according to state insurance commissioner Harvey G. Combs. He said after a talk with Gov. Orval Faubus that he would not take any action on the committee's complaints about insurance companies "frauds" until after he met with the group. He added he had ordered corrections made where one company was missteering its policyholders. The committee, headed by Dr. Sam Jameson of El Dorado, have asked for a state investigation of alleged "frauds" by the health and accident insurance companies.

Egypt-Syria Merger Alarms King of Jordan

By HAROLD GUARD United Press Staff Correspondent LONDON (UP)—The merger of Egypt and Syria into the United Arab Republic is a matter of deep concern for King Hussein of Jordan. Reports from Amman indicate Hussein already has initiated moves for a "King's Union" with Iraq and Saudi Arabia to counter the "Republican Union" of Egypt and Syria. Jordan's influential newspaper Falastin urged strongly, in an editorial, union with Iraq. There were reports that Hussein had called for a "summit" meeting with King Saud and King Feisal to discuss their policy toward the Egypt-Syria merger. Perhaps no other Arab state has greater reason to look askance at the union than Jordan. Hussein has been the favorite "whipping boy" of Egyptian and Syrian propagandists. Egyptians and Syrians were behind the attempted coup d'etat against Hussein last year. Now, some observers point out, Jordan could provide the land link between the Egyptian and Syrian parts of the United Arab Republic. Three Kings Silent Authoritative quarters, did not expect three kings to be critical of the Egypt-Syria move toward Arab unity. But none of them was expected to fall in with the idea of federation under Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser. It was believed that the trio would move cautiously because both Saudi Arabia and Iraq depend on Syria for the safe passage of their oil. From this angle it was expected that the big oil companies would step up their plans to avoid pipelines over Arab soil by linking Persian lines to Turkey at Isken-

Club Owner Fined for Gambling

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—R. C. Dennis, manager of a club in North Little Rock, was fined $103.25 in North Little Municipal Court Tuesday for allowing gambling in the club. He was arrested by police after they visited 16 private clubs January 19. In London, oilmen said the Kirkuk oilfields in northern Iraq could be joined to this system. They said the big companies were expected now to press for a quick decision.

River Boaters Are Behind Schedule

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—A pair of Grove, Okla., boat enthusiasts hope to reach the junction of the Arkansas and Mississippi rivers tonight on their water trip from Miami, Okla., to Miami, Fla. Ted Harpool, 47, and Virgil Potter 42, stopped here overnight, a day behind schedule. They left Miami, Oklahoma Saturday on the 2,000 mile trip and now say they may turn their boat over to another crew at New Orleans. Harpool said they had to go "swimming" especially between Sallisaw, Okla. and Fort Smith. Sandbars, he explained, forced them to get out of the boat and wade to push the craft into deeper water. After leaving Dardanelle Tuesday morning they were able to make up to 30 miles an hour in open water, he said. The purpose of the trip is to see whether the boat could make it. The Arkansas Basin Development Association is backing the voyage. SPONSOR GLOBAL SERIES CHICAGO (UP)—The National Baseball Congress will sponsor the Global World Series again this year. The site and playing dates for the tournament will be announced next month.
